HEEYA, BANGALORE

Maker of Handloom sarees/fabric woven by women in Assam, on home based looms. Heeya reinvents the textiles of Assam, in handwoven sarees, yardages and accessories that reflect the rich handloom heritage of the region. Inspired by traditional motifs, patterns and colours.

Heeya aims to promote rare craft traditions and revive skills that are in danger of extinction in a land where weaving has been a way of life. Heeya primarily works in three districts of Assam- Kamrup, Jorhat and Chirang, with three distinct weaving communities - the Assamese plains, Bodos and Mishings, that has about 70 women weavers. Heeya works with these communities through NGOs and self help groups and provides support with raw material, infrastructure and training. The textile art of each groups is distinct- while the Assamese plains women weave on extra weft style in 2-3 colours, Mishing women weave intricate patterns using extra weft in upto 8 colours. Bodo women weave in the extra warp style, where motifs are created by placing two sets of warp- one below the other as the weft is being woven.
